

* CLSs *

Cluster label: 1

Final Summary for cluster: President Donald Trump has said he is slapping a 5% tariff on all Mexican imports to pressure the country to do more to crack down on the surge of Central American migrants trying to cross the US border. Mexico has very strong immigration laws and could easily halt the illegal flow of migrants, including by returning them to their home countries," he said.. Moreover, MEXICO CITY, May 31 (Reuters) - Mexico's president said Friday he would respond with "great prudence" to threats by his U.S. counterpart Donald Trump to slap tariffs on Mexican goods entering the United States, and called on Mexicans to unite to deal with the challenge. Trump said on Thursday the United States will impose a 5% tariff on all goods coming from Mexico starting on June 10 until illegal immigration across the southern border is stopped. (

Cluster label: 0

Final Summary for cluster: In a surprise announcement that could compromise a major trade deal, Donald Trump announced Thursday that he is slapping a 5% tariff on all Mexican imports to pressure the country to do more to crack down on the surge of Central American migrants trying to cross the border. Asked about the impact of the tariffs on the economy, Mulvaney said illegal immigration was "already impacting the economy negatively".. Furthermore, In a surprise announcement that could derail a trade deal, President Donald Trump announced Thursday that he is slapping a 5% tariff on all Mexican imports, effective June 10, to pressure the country to do more to crack down on the surge of migrants trying to cross the U.S. border. Jesus Seade, Mexico's top diplomat for North America, said the the tariffs would be "disastrous".

Cluster label: 2

Final Summary for cluster: MEXICO CITY (Reuters) - Mexico's president and the top U.S. business lobbying group called on President Donald Trump to back down from a threat to impose punitive tariffs on Mexican imports, in a dispute over migration that could shock Mexico's economy. Trump and his fellow Republicans say something needs to be done to stem the biggest migrant surge on the southern border in a decade. Since taking office in December, Mexico's Lopez Obrador has urged Trump to help him tackle migration by promoting economic development in Guatemala, Honduras and El Salvador, where most of the migrants apprehended on the U.S. border come from.. Moreover, MEXICO CITY: Mexico's president and the top U.S. business lobbying group called on President Donald Trump to back down from a threat to impose punitive tariffs on Mexican imports, in a dispute over migration that could shock Mexico's economy.

* avg embeddings *

Cluster label: 1

Final Summary for cluster: President Donald Trump has said he is slapping a 5% tariff on all Mexican imports to pressure the country to do more to crack down on the surge of Central American migrants trying to cross the US border. Mr Trump has accused the Mexican government of failing to do enough to crack down on the surge of Central American migrants who have been flowing to the US in search of asylum from countries including El Salvador, Honduras and Guatemala.. Furthermore, US Lawmaker US President Donald Trump announced Thursday that a 5 percent import tax would be imposed on all Mexican goods starting June 10 until Mexico stops illegal migrants coming through its territory. Mexico has very strong immigration laws and could easily halt the illegal flow of migrants, including by returning them to their home countries," he said.. Furthermore, MEXICO CITY, May 31 (Reuters) - Mexico's president said Friday he would respond with "great prudence" to threats by his U.S. counterpart Donald Trump to slap tariffs on Mexican goods entering the United States, and called on Mexicans to unite to deal with the challenge.

Cluster label: 0

Final Summary for cluster: In a surprise announcement that could compromise a major trade deal, Donald Trump announced Thursday that he is slapping a 5% tariff on all Mexican imports to pressure the country to do more to crack down on the surge of Central American migrants trying to cross the border. Asked about the impact of the tariffs on the economy, Mulvaney said illegal immigration was "already impacting the economy negatively".. Furthermore, In a surprise announcement that could compromise a major trade deal, President Donald Trump announced Thursday that he is slapping a 5% tariff on all Mexican imports to pressure the country to do more to crack down on the surge of Central American migrants trying to cross the U.S. border. " Just a few days later, he backed off the threat, saying he was pleased with steps Mexico had taken in recent days.

Cluster label: 2

Final Summary for cluster: MEXICO CITY (Reuters) - Mexico's president and the top U.S. business lobbying group called on President Donald Trump to back down from a threat to impose punitive tariffs on Mexican imports, in a dispute over migration that could shock Mexico's economy. Trump and his fellow Republicans say something needs to be done to stem the biggest migrant surge on the southern border in a decade. Since taking office in December, Mexico's Lopez Obrador has urged Trump to help him tackle migration by promoting economic development in Guatemala, Honduras and El Salvador, where most of the migrants apprehended on the U.S. border come from.. Similarly, MEXICO CITY: Mexico's president and the top U.S. business lobbying group called on President Donald Trump to back down from a threat to impose punitive tariffs on Mexican imports, in a dispute over migration that could shock Mexico's economy.

* finetune *

Cluster label: 1

Final Summary for cluster: President Donald Trump has said he is slapping a 5% tariff on all Mexican imports to pressure the country to do more to crack down on the surge of Central American migrants trying to cross the US border. Mexico has very strong immigration laws and could easily halt the illegal flow of migrants, including by returning them to their home countries," he said.. In addition, In a surprise announcement that could derail a trade deal, President Donald Trump announced Thursday that he is slapping a 5% tariff on all Mexican imports, effective June 10, to pressure the country to do more to crack down on the surge of migrants trying to cross the U.S. border. Jesus Seade, Mexico's top diplomat for North America, said the the tariffs would be "disastrous".

Cluster label: 0

Final Summary for cluster: US Lawmaker US President Donald Trump announced Thursday that a 5 percent import tax would be imposed on all Mexican goods starting June 10 until Mexico stops illegal migrants coming through its territory. The duty will increase 5 percent every month until it reaches 25 percent.. Furthermore, In a surprise announcement that could compromise a major trade deal, Donald Trump announced Thursday that he is slapping a 5% tariff on all Mexican imports to pressure the country to do more to crack down on the surge of Central American migrants trying to cross the border. Don Jr and his mother may have met up for lunch at the ritzy restaurant on Thursday afternoon.. Moreover, MEXICO CITY (Reuters) - Mexico's deputy foreign minister for North America, Jesus Seade, said on Thursday that it would be disastrous if U.S. President Donald Trump goes through with his threat to impose new tariffs on Mexico.

Cluster label: 2

Final Summary for cluster: MEXICO CITY (Reuters) - Mexico's president and the top U.S. business lobbying group called on President Donald Trump to back down from a threat to impose punitive tariffs on Mexican imports, in a dispute over migration that could shock Mexico's economy. Trump and his fellow Republicans say something needs to be done to stem the biggest migrant surge on the southern border in a decade. Since taking office in December, Mexico's Lopez Obrador has urged Trump to help him tackle migration by promoting economic development in Guatemala, Honduras and El Salvador, where most of the migrants apprehended on the U.S. border come from.. Similarly, MEXICO CITY: Mexico's president and the top U.S. business lobbying group called on President Donald Trump to back down from a threat to impose punitive tariffs on Mexican imports, in a dispute over migration that could shock Mexico's economy.